

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY 2025

FROM THE DIRECTOR

Library Director, Nic Gunning

When I think of 2025, my thoughts shift first to Construction! We were fortunate that our two major projects, the stairs and parking lot, were funded mostly through NYS Aid for Library Construction. Still, the disruption led to a lot of uncertainty and many phone calls and online messages, “Are you open?!” Yes! I appreciated your patience and resilience. I’ll be asking for that again as we look ahead to upcoming capitol projects. This building is a marvel and we intend to keep it that way.

In other news, 2025 turned out to be a banner year for our patrons making use of the digital collections! Libby (formerly known as Overdrive) is the go-to app for ebooks, digital audiobooks, magazines, and more. It’s a pleasure to introduce new patrons to this app because it soon becomes a favorite. Some newer apps include Kanopy (video streaming) and Mango Languages (language learning). I’ve enjoyed streaming BBC mysteries and classic sci-fi on Kanopy and have been learning Portuguese on Mango. These apps are a great addition to library services because you can access the collections wherever you are in between visits.

2025 also marked the tenth year of the library podcast, which Eric Mikols and I started in August of 2015. Now Youth Services Coordinator Ally Fesmire and I trade off introducing each other to new things on the podcast But Have You Tried. Some of the highlights of 2025 included us learning cross-stitch, discovering new music, and rediscovering old classics, like Animal Farm.

It is an exciting challenge for us to find new ways to interact with patrons and serve the community. So whether you experienced the library regularly in person, discovered new ways to connect digitally, or a little bit of both, we were happy to connect with you!

ARTS & CULTURE

NANCY HOWE AUDITORIUM AND HOWE GALLERY

You might not expect to find a coffee truck and a traveling Shakespeare company in front of the library on a warm summer evening. But, that was the scene set in July. Shake on the Lake brought their production of The Tempest to the library lawn and, throughout the evening, the cast seamlessly (and hilariously) incorporated the SheBrews truck and staff into their kinetic, raucous performance. In that one evening, over 130 community members came out to visit the library and enjoy a professional theater experience, which was supported by patron contributions and funding from local organizations like Allegany

County Area Foundation and Arts Council for Wyoming County. Hosting performers is just one way the library fulfills its mission to foster arts and culture in our community. We also have dance performances, concerts, films, author visits, art classes and shows, gallery exhibits, and more. Often, the artists featured in the Nancy Howe Auditorium and Howe Gallery live and work locally, contributing to our community beyond their art. We get to enjoy their creative talents and have the pleasure of interacting with them and seeing how life in our community inspires their creative endeavors.

TEENS

Early in the spring of 2025, as Ally was starting to plan the teen summer reading program, she had an idea: what if instead of simply having the teen participants track the time they spend reading, we split them into teams to compete to read the most? This idea came to fruition with red, yellow, and blue teams sporting color-coded team arm bands. Some teens even wore shirts and beanies in their team's color to show their team spirit!

Throughout the summer, as the teens tracked the minutes they spent reading on our leaderboard, many established personal rivalries, choosing someone else on the leaderboard and trying to read more than their rival. The competition must have been extra motivating, because this year our teens read 69,000 minutes—nearly double the number of minutes read the year before! It was a close race, but the blue team ultimately won, securing a popsicle party and commemorative winner buttons.

Costume contest judging at the annual Teen Halloween Party

Each year, we hold a variety of events for older and younger teens, including the Friday Club (a relaxed hang out with snacks and board games), Dungeons & Dragons, NERF, hide-and-seek, crafts, and our annual Halloween party.

CHILDREN

One of the best spots around for our littlest library patrons and their grownups to have a fun and learning-filled experience year-round is at our weekly story times. After reading stories together, there's always a craft and free play. Kids get to flex their creative muscles and work out their wiggles and giggles together. Our librarians also take story time on the road to local daycare centers and afterschool programs to bring the joy of reading into the community.

This year, we had some extra special story times with beloved teachers, librarians from nearby towns, and other special guests. These folks helped us get through the period between Miss Kate's departure in August and Miss Ashleigh's arrival in mid-December. Amy Hunt, the Wellsville Elementary School Librarian, kicked off this series of All-Star Storytimes and she brought down the house with Buffalo Fluffalo!

As always, the annual Summer Reading Program was a huge hit, offering a variety of engaging programs to help kids unleash their energy, enthusiasm, and creativity. Activities revolved around the Color Our World theme and included many artistic ventures, as well as a rainbow of family movies, like

We finished out the year with a Noon Year's Eve Party, hosted by our new children's librarian, Ashleigh Beblavy, who couldn't be any more excited to host fun events and share stories and experiences with the children of our community!

ADULTS

When it comes to adult programming, we always strive to take into account the interests and suggestions of our patrons. Having an adult drawing class had been in the works for a couple of years. So when the opportunity arrived to offer one, we jumped on it.

“The Joy of Drawing” class session

Wellsville Elementary School Art Teacher, Liz Menichino, came up with a 6 week series of drawing classes, “The Joy of Drawing” that was offered during our summer reading program. The classes were well received, and the adult summer reading program had its highest number of patron registrations to date!

Throughout the year, we offered a number of different adult programs from mushroom cultivation, crochet classes, a cooking class, book clubs, an adult Dungeons & Dragons club, and more. We rounded out the year with two popular programs presented by Hawk Creek Wildlife Center, “Walk with the Eagles” and “Harry Potter Owls.” There was something for everyone!

BUILDING & GROUNDS

In 2025, we tackled two large construction projects: replacing the front stairs and the parking lot. Both areas, subject to decades of harsh weather, as well as the feet and vehicle treads of many thousands of patrons each year, were in dire need of repair. The front stairs were completely removed and replaced with cast concrete in the spring. The parking lot was repaved and the adjacent crumbling brick wall deconstructed in October.

Of course, construction projects represent only a small part of the work done to maintain the 89-year-old library building. Our small but dedicated team of maintenance staff work tirelessly to keep the library building and grounds clean, safe, and in good repair. From painting walls to hauling trash, trimming hedges to shoveling snow, to making sure the bathrooms are fully stocked. Without this team, the library would be a far less pleasant and beautiful place to visit.

The stone stairs were gorgeous but the steady need for repairs made poured concrete the best choice to replace them

In 2025, patrons and library staff collected 530 pounds of film plastic. The goal was to collect 1,000 pounds and receive a bench from the recycled material. Though we didn't reach that goal, diverting 530 pounds of film plastic waste from the landfill was worth the effort.
